1. The cost to perform at a concert is from $20 to $80 depending on the concert.
2. The cost of masterclasses varies by the instructor.
3. The Study Room is for making presentations about specific music, history, application, non-music subject, etc.
4. Semi-Solo concerts will be planned and discussed several months in advance. GMG advertises the performer as a special feature of the concert. The cost is from $100 to $200 depending on the concert. GMG provides staff, refreshments, and marketing materials. The premium category concert halls are not included in this category.
5. Premium concerts such as Spivey Hall or Carnegie Hall Concerts will be calculated by the total cost dividing by the sum of each performer's performing time.
6. Each technology class is up to one hour, 1-on-1 on a GMG related topic of your request
7. If you have your own business website, your website can be linked under your name.
